Academic Vacancies 2024-2025

Development Economics, Econometrics, Financial Econometrics, Financial Economics, Industrial Organization, International Economics, Labor, Macroeconomics, Public Economics, Theory

The Department of Economics at The University of Western Ontario invites applications for up to two probationary (tenure track) or tenured appointments in Economics with a specialization in Development Economics, Econometrics, Financial Econometrics, Financial Economics, Industrial Organization, International Economics, Labor, Macroeconomics, Public Economics, or Theory at the rank of Assistant, Associate or Full Professor. Unless otherwise specified, these appointments are effective July 1, 2024, but alternate starting dates may be arranged. Applicants should specify if they are applying for a probationary (tenure track) or tenured position. The successful candidates will be appointed to the rank appropriate to their level of experience. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Qualifications:

For a probationary appointment, the candidate must have completed (or be very close to completion of) a doctoral degree in Economics. The successful candidate will demonstrate excellence or clear promise of excellence in research, including the ability to publish in the highest quality academic outlets, and in teaching, including the ability to successfully teach undergraduate and graduate courses. Candidates must have excellent oral communication, written communication, and interpersonal skills.

For a tenured appointment, the candidate must have completed a doctoral degree in Economics. The successful candidate must provide evidence of top research and impact through publications in the highest quality academic outlets and be an internationally recognized expert in his or her field of research evidenced through activities such as journal editorship, invited talks, and grant receipt. Preference will be given to candidates who provide evidence of successful teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels such as positive teaching reviews, teaching awards, development of new academic courses, and successful supervision of graduate students. Candidates must have excellent oral communication, written communication, and interpersonal skills.

Duties:

Duties include course delivery in the Economics undergraduate and graduate programs, supervision of graduate students, maintaining an active research program including applying for external grant funds, and some administrative duties.
